Dear Sisters, Brothers, and Children in Jesus Christ,

As we draw close to the end of the liturgical year, the Church reminds us to focus our meditation upon the End/Final/Eschatological realities (death, judgement and life after death). In today's gospel, Jesus speaks to us the parable of the ten virgins who await the arrival of the bridegroom. Five of them were wise and the other five are said to have been foolish. Jesus warns his listeners not to be like the foolish ones who did not carry sufficient oil for their lamps. Further, Jesus insists, "Stay awake for you do not know either the day or hour (of your death)" (Matthew 25:13).

Thinking about our future, we are compelled to say that we know only one reality that is guaranteed to us in future – that we shall die one day. Nothing else is sure about the next moment in our lives. Only the present moment is ours. We do not know either the hour or the day or how we shall die. But die, we will! So, Jesus directs us in today's gospel to be mindful of how we should live our present lives. We need to fill our lamps with sufficient oil, so we can readily welcome the Lord. If the lamps are compared to our individual lives, then the oil, I believe, is the collection of human and Christian values that we need to possess and put into practice in our daily lives.

It is a time for soul searching. Am I living a life worthy of my call being a true disciple of Jesus? If not, let me mend my ways now, lest I find myself far away when he comes.

Yours in Christ Jesus,
Fr.C.P.Varghese
Pastor
